THE CONFLICT BETWEEN PALESTINE ANS ISRAELI

My opinion about the conflict is that the Palestinian people don't deserve that the Israeli ones invaded their country. The Palestinians helped them but this doesn't mean that they've to invade all their territory because even they are helping that doesn't gave they the power to have all the country. Also, I understand the Israeli ones because if Iwas in their side I would also stay in the Palestine's side to survive.

On one hand, the Palestine people have all the right to kick them out because they are evading their territory without their consent, what they mean with the thing that the Israeli ones could stay with them is that they had to share the households and the entire country not to evade it. Also, they let them stay but that didn't mean that the Israeli had to take everything away considering that the Palestinian people gave them their 'home'. Because of that, they ended with nothing and a consequence is that they had to leave their own houses and find new ones in other countries and that for me is so disrespectful and unfair.

On the other hand, the Israeli people had no choice. Is difficult to understand what they lived because is so hard, people didn't want them and is so sad because they're just normal people like us. If I witnessed that I'm sure that I would do the same as them but I'd not evade their country I would only stay in Palestine and live together with them and not take away what is their home because if it happened to me, I would didn't like that.

All in all, from my point of view the reason of that conflict is easy to fix, if the two sides agreed they could live together. Instead of fight among them, if they talk and help each other it would be different. They have to keep away their differences and live all together if they were normal civilian people.
